Meanwhile Robert Gilbault, on manager for Industrial Electric, reported 82 workers, 90 percent of whom live in this area, are now employed at the plant. The office is functioning start-off basis although operations are being conducted in the New Orleans of that eventually will be here.

The porcelain enameling plant is in operation burning 8,600 cubic feet of gas per hour—approximately the same as used by an average home in one month. Inquiries have come in from as far as Seattle, Wash., and San Diego, Calif., about the process which utilizes gas fired tubes, one of the first of its kind in the country.

4 Sentenced in Circuit Court

Four defendants were sentenced by Judge Leslie B. Grant in Circuit Court during the past week. One being convicted by a jury after pleading not guilty to charges on which he was indicted.

William Bland, Negro from New Orleans, was sentenced to three months in the county jail after a jury Monday found him guilty of trespassing on a vehicle. He had been indicted for grand larceny for allegedly taking a station wagon belonging to Charlie Mitchell without the owner's permission and already had spent three months in jail.

Larry William Blank, Nebraska youth who pleaded not guilty to attempted grand larceny when arraigned last Thursday, got six months in the county jail for malicious mischief after the state moved to reduce the charge. The term is to run concurrently with those imposed in JP court. Blank had been involved in an attempt to steal money from Clifton's Service Station on Ulman Avenue two weeks ago.

Also on Monday, Joe Hall, Negro, pleaded guilty to child desertion and drew one year in the penitentiary, suspended with two years probation. Judge Grant directed him to pay $30 a month for support of his three children who are living with their aunt in Waveland. This case had been held over from last fall's term.

Oscar Barabino, Negro, pleaded guilty last Thursday to child desertion and got six months in the penitentiary. Seven minor children are involved in this case.

Jerry Parker and son, M. G. Parker, pleaded guilty to burglary and larceny and are to be sentenced today along with Floyd Fricke, who pleaded not guilty to impersonating a deputy sheriff. Stated for trial today is the case of Alfred Andrews, Louisiana Negro charged in the burglary a year ago of the local Winn-Dixie supermarket.

Three youths charged in a series of break-ins at Waveland homes—William Crawford Jackson, Jr., Troy James and Vester Ladner, Jr., are to be sentenced March 29 after pleading guilty in all instances when arraigned last week. Trial is set that day also for William J. Hollingsworth and Homer Dean, Jr., Negro, on charges of burglary and larceny of property of

NASA Study Poses Host of Questions

If 3,000 construction workers were employed in Hancock County soon what do the county, Bay St. Louis and Waveland have to offer and what serious problems are likely to arise? Or 1,000 permanent workers arriving slightly later?

Such is the meat of a questionnaire type letter from Martin I. Kent, NASA administrative official, received Tuesday by Mayor John A. Scaffie and Board of Supervisor President R. G. Hubbard. Similar requests for information are being made of Pass Christian, Slidell and Picayune.

The information is sought to help NASA in the "master planning and ultimate development" of the Mississippi Test Facility (Hancock County Test Site), and both Hubbard and Scaffie said they would ask the sub-committees of the county coordinating and advisory committee to prepare preliminary answers to those questions within the sub-committees' scope.

Kent's questions are:

1. Highways. a. Are there any bottlenecks in movement of passenger cars at peak periods? What is planned to relieve them, and when is action scheduled? b. What is the approximate cost per mile of heavy duty two-lane highway construction?

2. Housing. a. How many vacant family units (including furnished apartments) are there for rent; for sale? What are the rental and price ranges? Is there a supply of rooms for rent to persons without families? b. What is number of conventional FHA Title II housing recently built and under construction? What terms and rate of interest prevail on conventional financing? How about availability of mortgage funds? Are improved building sites available?

3. Utilities. a. What is the water supply capacity? How many additional families can be accommodated? b. Is there a sewage collection system? Sewage treatment plant? How many additional families can be accommodated? c. How are utility expansion programs being financed? If federal assistance is involved, please specify.

4. Schools. a. What is the present school population? How does it relate to capacity? What expansion is planned or underway? How many additional pupils can be accommodated after expansion? b. What plans are underway for higher education? c. Is federal assistance being used under provision of P. L. 874 or P. L. 815?

5. Hospitals, Medical Resources. a. How many beds are presently available? What plans are there for expansion? b. How many doctors in general practice are there? What

How many such sites are available?

6. Acquisition Due Shortly in Site. The Army Corps of Engineers hopes to begin acquisition of the first tracts of land in the fee simple area for the proposed NASA Mississippi Test Facility in Hancock County in the near future, according to O.B. Moore, real estate project manager here. All appraisals on one segment are not yet completed, he said.

Col. T. J. Hyes, assistant to the chief of the engineers for NASA support, inspected the test site Monday with a group from the office of the Chief of Engineers presenting real estate, engineering, construction and comptroller divisions. Also on the trip were Col. F.E. Stevenson, deputy South Atlantic division engineer, and Col. D.A. Raymond, Mobile district engineer.

Hospital Wins Accreditation

Hancock General Hospital last week received a three-year accreditation from the Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals becoming the smallest hospital in Mississippi to be so approved and gaining that recognition in the shortest time since its opening.

Notice from the national body was received by Administrator Thomas O. Logue and was quickly followed with congratulatory letters from Foster L. Fowler, director of the Mississippi Commission on Hospital Care, and Charles W. Flynn, director of the Mississippi Hospital Assn.

Fowler wrote, "In the journey toward good medical care for the people of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County, it is a very long step from the inadequate and obsolete institution of only a few years back to accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation. The entire community should be just bursting with pride."

Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, director of the JCAH, said action of his board of commissioners followed the recommendation of Dr. Arno H. Fromm, field representative, who made the survey here Feb. 16. Accreditation is for three years or until a subsequent survey is conducted. He also sent recommendations for the improvement of the quality of patient care based on survey findings, requesting that they be put into effect before the next visit of a commission representative. An appropriate certificate will be forwarded later.

The notice commended the hospital "for meeting standards deserving of accreditation and for your constant effort to improve the quality of patient care." Copies of the JCAH letter went to Dr. A. K. Martinolich, Jr., chief of the medical staff, and Mrs. T. P. Ward, president of the board of trustees.

Dr. Martinolich and Logue noted that accreditation is voluntary and not compulsory, there being 26 non-governmental hospitals accredited in Mississippi out of 130. It guarantees a safe and sound building, the best facilities and equipment, competent medical library, competent qualified medical staff, well trained nursing staff and well trained hospital personnel.

The MHA director sent Logue his congratulations on the hospital's accomplishments, noting the two first it had chalked up in doing so — the smallest hospital in the state so approved and winning the OK in the shortest time from its opening in comparison with others in the state. Hancock General opened at its present site in May, 1960. Initial hospital in the county was established in the early 1920's by the late Dr. A. P. Smith as a clinic; later Kings' Daughters took over and Hancock General assumed that organization's plant on Carroll Avenue in 1957 before moving to its present modern 32-bed facility.

Safety Unit Is Appointed For Chamber

Warren Carver and Andy Becker were appointed by President W. Ray Gordon a safety committee for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at Monday night's meeting of the board of directors. Carver and Becker are members of the board.

Without dissent the board tabled indefinitely a proposal that the chamber have its office on U. S. 90 rather than in City Hall. Gordon pointed out that the highway parallels the beach in Harrison County so it is advantageous for the cities there to have their chamber of commerce offices on the highway since passersby are already seeing the county's primary attraction. In Hancock County, he continued, the situation is different and suggested the advisability of at least two signs on the highway, one opposite Waveland Avenue and another in the Bay area, pointing out to eastbound traffic the

One needs not look at a cal-

Weager sunbathers were seen

Pay Up

We normally think of the American Red Cross in terms of a disaster such as the 1947 hurricane here or the entertainment (?) provided our armed forces or the money paid in to servicemen's families. All this they do, but one major assist to servicemen and their families somehow is never publicized - the Red Cross's roll in the granting of emergency leave to servicemen.

Cpl. Bourgeois-Bourgeois of Pfc. Smith-Smith asks for emergency leave because of his wife's serious illness. His battalion commander or ship's captain generally will not give this emergency leave unless the serviceman's basis can be corroborated. The Red Cross with representatives in almost all communities of any size is the usual source of such corroboration, and in a very few hours the authority authorized to grant such leave can ascertain the facts through the Red Cross. Without that organization very few legitimate emergency leaves could be granted. Of our personal knowledge this is true, and in our opinion this is the most important day to day help the Red Cross gives servicemen.

Aside from the fact that Hancock County has not been contributing to the Red Cross even as much as families in the county receive in dollars and cents from the Red Cross, it has contributed nothing toward disasters in other areas, though it received help in its 1947 disaster, nor to the day to day help the Red Cross provides servicemen and their families.

Let's at least pay our own way.

Sidewalks Needed

For several months Bay St. Louis Mayor and Commission Council have indicated that a sidewalk would be constructed on the west side of Dunbar Avenue from U. S. 90 to North Bay Elementary School. With the heavy traffic on Dunbar between the highway and Felicite Street, the sidewalk is obviously needed for the protection of students going to and from the school.

Most of the preliminary engineering has been done, but it now develops that the city may not have the necessary funds to build the sidewalk in addition to the street paving program to which it is committed.

We have a suggestion. The city can borrow up to $50,000, without a vote on a bond issue and that is far more than the proposed sidewalk could cost. Why not borrow at least the amount needed to construct the sidewalk and have that improvement completed before school opens again in September? It's something that should have been done before now.

Gulf Coast History

Indians Repulse Spanish

hundred and twenty-odd Spaniards were chased down-stream by perhaps a thousand Indians. Nearly every Spaniard received additional wounds, and about a dozen were drowned.

Upon nearing the Gulf the party landed with the object of obtaining a last supply of food and water. But here the Indians renewed their attack and the Spaniards fled and made for the open Gulf.

Three hundred and eleven men found their way to Tampico, Mexico. Thus another Spanish expedition had returned from Amichel empty-handed.

Thus ended what might be called the conquest of De Soto by Florida. His body was meanwhile rolling over somewhere near the bottom of the stream he had discovered.

Father Conca de Barbastro, in 1549, led an abortive and, to him and four of his companions, fatal missionary expedition to somewhere on the west coast of the Florida peninsula.

Tristan de Luna made an equally unsuccessful attempt to establish a colony on Pensacola Bay ten years later - an attempt which came to grief from internal dissension; but it is probable that neither of these last two expeditions added anything to the existing knowledge of the Gulf Coast.

For forty-seven years Spain had been sending men to Amichel for one purpose or another, but not one had succeeded. Traders, explorers, plunderers, colonizers and missionaries - all alike had failed. Spain did not know what to do with the country; so she abandoned it for the next hundred and thirty-seven years.

Toward the end of the sixteen-hundreds England, France and again Spain began to take an interest in the Gulf Coast - Spain, possibly because of pride, but more probably because Amichel adjoined, or was uncomfortably near, to her American possessions in Mexico and the West Indies, and lay inconveniently close to the ship lane used by her gold and silver laden galleons; England because she claimed all the country westward from her colonies on the Atlantic; France because La Salle had claimed for her the mid-country down to the Gulf of Mexico; and both England and France largely because they were interested in those Spanish galleons and mines, as Spain well knew.

Spain, in 1696 (according to Spanish records) despatched Dan Andre d'Arriola to the coast of Amichel to build that first little fort, San Carlos, at Pensacola, Iberville, for France, arrived there in January of 1699 and found the fort as yet uncompleted. The French therefore set the time of the arrival of the Spaniards at about October, 1698. Spain may have despatched Dan Andre in 1696 but he evidently lingered over his departure; perhaps the experiences of his predecessors in Amichel justified a desire to linger.

III
SPAIN AND PORTUGAL HOLD THE AMERICAS

A glance at the history of Europe's maritime powers as they were at the end of the fifteenth century will suffice to explain why the Americas were left to Spain and Portugal alone for more than a hundred years. In 1492, when America was discovered, Europe was just emerging from feudalism. Not yet had the great states which we know today emerged from the welter of principalities that scrambled and unscrambled themselves across the face of Europe. Internecine feuds among the princely ruling families so complicated hereditary claims that no peaceful solution could be reached and, instead of serving to bring about unity these internecine feuds developed when a petty ruler died or was murdered. Often such wars were confined to a region now bound within the confines of what is now a nation and such little wars did not greatly concern Europe as a whole. But occasionally, the claims of relatives crossed important borders, spread a war to a region where another language was spoken, and then men and treasure were destroyed on a large scale. As a consequence of these little and big wars Europe as a whole was kept poor; and as a consequence of the poverty the people were steeped in ignorance for centuries.

Mr. Raymond also says, "Past experience points to certain ill advised projects where literally thousands of dollars were spread over the waters... and inadequate methods were employed to remedy the drainage condition". Let's take a closer look at what "past experience" points out.

I. Five sand beaches at a time to bring about unity these internecine feuds developed when a petty ruler died or was murdered. Often such wars were confined to a region now bound within the confines of what is now a nation and such little wars did not greatly concern Europe as a whole. But occasionally, the claims of relatives crossed important borders, spread a war to a region where another language was spoken, and then men and treasure were destroyed on a large scale. As a consequence of these little and big wars Europe as a whole was kept poor; and as a consequence of the poverty the people were steeped in ignorance for centuries.

P. Stringer and R. D. Griffin was conductor.

Pralines vs. V&M In Logtown Play

Also scheduled is a first-round girls' game between Moran's and McNeill at 7 p.m. and a first-round boys' contest pitting Beech's Bobcats against the Pica-yune Y at 8 p.m.
Three games were played Tuesday night as the tourney got underway. Logtown tripped Co-wart's Barber Shop 60-48 to move into Saturday's boys' semifinals, the Praline Kings won over Taylor's Tots, and V & M downed Pica-yune 7-Up. No girls' games were played.

Harry Hears... Machines And Men

Ohio State, Wake Forest, UCLA and Cincinnati advanced to the semifinals of the NCAA Basketball Tournament Friday and Saturday night in Louisville, Kentucky. The other major college basketball tournament, the National Invitation, continues this week with a champ to be crowned Saturday afternoon.

The NCAA, biggest tournament of the two, surprisingly saw four favorites make the semifinals. Ohio State defeated a good Kentucky quintet with ease 74-64 Saturday night in Iowa City in Midwest regional. Cincinnati disposed of Colorado in convincing fashion 73-46 in the Midwest. UCLA trounced Oregon State 88-69 in Far West play, while Wake Forest downed tough Villanova 79-69 in the East.

In the game which local fans were interested in, just had too little height to cope with Ohio State. The Buckeyes did afford to put their great defensive forward, 6-5 John (Hondo) Hick, on Kentucky center Cotton Nash, also 6-5, and that left America center Jerry Lucas of the Buckeyes open to control the backboards. On offense, the Bucks were able to lob the ball over the heads of smaller Kentucky men into Lucas whose soft shots are deadly.

Lucas Is the Best

Lucas, in our opinion, is the best basketball player college basketball has ever turned out. He shoots only when he has to — in Kentucky game during a nip-and-tuck first half which the Wildcat led by six points on two different occasions, Lucas shot.

He took 13 shots, his average output for an entire game, and made 10, 77 per cent. He added five free throws to the total in attempts and left the floor at halftime having made 25 of his 41 points. In the second half, Big Luke made two quick baskets, then as the Bucks began to pull away and the outcome was near certain, he decided to let his teammates shoot, feeding them contently with perfect, needle-threading passes.

One player seldom makes a championship club, though, and State has an adequate share of other talent. Havlicek is sensational — the partisan Kentucky announcer whom we heard describing the game on radio said he gets away with murder on defense — an opponent guarded by Havlicek hasn't even got room to think. He is aggressive to the superlative degree of the word. Havlicek, Cotton Nash to 14 points and Nash, who two years from now could be the country's top player, was so flustered he couldn't anything right. The soph sensation made two or three bad passes, rebounding timing was off, and he missed one easy shot after the other.

Forward Doug McDonald, also 6-5, gave Ohio State three points bigger than Kentucky's biggest. Nash, a test proved, is a point less than the 6-5 he is listed. McDonald scored 21 points in the semifinals regional play Friday night against Western Kentucky did not score against Kentucky. Mel Nowell, from his guard, is a fine floor player, and on a good night can be as good as a guard in the land.

Cincinnati, the defending national champion, having upset the defeated Buckeyes in the final game last year, is a tough defensive unit. UCLA is a steady squad, and Wake Forest a running, snappy-minded team relying on All-American Len Chappell, 6-8, most of their scoring punch.

Put On a Limb

Ohio State plays Wake Forest in one of the two semifinals and Wake Forest is just itching to play the Buckeyes. Wake Forest early in the season was ranked either second or third nationally and were defeated by a large margin by the Bucks in the Deade's own back yard. We made a mistake picking against Ohio State last week, however, and will not do it again. Machines get done faster and better than humans and the Buckeye Express beat Wake Forest. In the other semifinal game, UCLA is a club but doesn't rank with Cincinnati. Unless the Bearcats off, they'll reach the finals. We've a feeling they will be off.

Autocross Set

Inaugural spring autocross of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees will be started Sunday, April 1, at the old drive-in theatre on U. S. 90, according to Bill Knowles, chairman. More than 50 sport cars from Florida, Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi are expected to compete.

Jaycee, Sideline Boxing Tilt

TRAINING FOR MATCHES — Frank Battefeld, Bay welterweight, punches the heavy bag in a workout for the Sideline-Jaycee sponsored boxing matches next Friday night under the eye of Buck Price, Bay team coach, and Charles Carter, Jr., Jaycee president. The event at Stanislaus gymnasium will mark the return of boxing to the city after a 10-year lapse.

and UCLA will win in an upset.

Ohio State, then, would not go into the finals with a good attitude. The Buckeyes were hurt last year when Cincinnati upset them and want revenge. And after our statement about the Bucks being a machine, we'll turn right around and say that the machine will bog down in the finals and UCLA will give them the fight of their lives. Why? The top players on the UCLA team are guards. Havlicek will not be able to play against a little man on defense and the Bruins will score points. The Buckeyes are the best, though, and in the end we'll pick Lucas and company to take home the marbles.

Diamond Exhibitions

Baseball exhibition games have been going on nearly two weeks now and the New York Yankees are having a rare spring campaign for them — they are winning. It's been a tradition with the Yanks that they lose most of their exhibitions but start winning on opening day. Perhaps they'll stop winning this season when the start of the regular season comes around.

Whitey Ford, who last year was the best pitcher in baseball, was injured in an early game. He has been given a rest, and you never know how much "minor" injuries can affect players during a season. The Bombers won their first nine games of the exhibition season, however, with Ford on nearly all the way, and even without the great lefthander looked every bit like the world champs they are.

Of the two new franchises in the National League, Houston's Colt .45's are having more success than the New York Mets, although the Mets had much the better start. Casey Stengel's New Yorkers lost five straight through Monday. The Mets have a good manager and a good front office, though, and seem to have more talent than the Colts. The Colts seem to be a team more likely to get fired up than the Mets, but we can't see them beating the New York nine over the regular season. All-in-all, we hope they do fare well — it would be a boost to Southern baseball. Both the Colts and the Mets should beat the Phillies.

Sidebars

Jake Gibbs has played some this season in exhibition games with the Yankees, but it appears he won't play in the majors this season. The former Ole Miss All-American is considered a good prospect, however, and should be heard from in time.

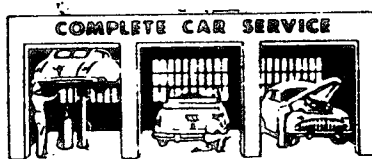

We've been hoping to hear something concerning Chris Taranto, the Biloxi sensation who last year pitched six straight no-hit games for Notre Dame High School to gain recognition in several leading national magazines. Taranto signed with the Houston Colts for an undisclosed bonus amount, but we do not believe he is on the Colt roster.

Congratulations should be handed out to Floyd Patterson, recognized as heavyweight champion of the boxing world, who last week finally signed to fight another boxer. We expect the fight will be postponed a couple of times — Patterson will probably get sick or something — but in a year's time, it looks as if Sonny Liston, No. 1 contender for two or three years, will finally get a chance at the championship.

January 1st. through March 31st.

First boxing match in Bay St. Louis in more than 10 years is scheduled Friday night, March 30, at the St. Stanislaus College gymnasium under joint auspices of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees and Stanislaus Sideline Club.

Three teams, Biloxi Recreation Center, Pascagoula and Bay St. Louis, will enter fighters with a card of 11 or 12 fights being planned.

At least four local boys will participate, according to Buck Price, coach of the Bay team. Ronnie Peterson, 140, welterweight, a star performer for Bay High School in football, basketball and baseball, is matched with Tom O'Grady, 140, in the feature match of the evening. Frank Battefeld, 145, also welterweight, meets Richard Miguey, while in the flyweight class, Orville Ferrell, 75, is paired with Joe Dalgo. Glenn Blalze, 160, is not yet matched. All opponents of the local boys are from Biloxi.

Chester Comeaux and David Ward, a pair who fought many times here during the Bay's golden age of boxing, are coaching the Biloxi contingent while Pascagoula is guided by Terry Randolph, former Bay president and one-time state champion from Bay High School.

Advance ticket sales of reserved seats will end next Thursday. The gate will be operated on a first come, first served basis. Matches will start at 8 p. m.

5 Local Teams Enter Coast Bowling Event

Among the 68 teams entered in the second annual Gulf Coast Men's Handicap Bowling Center. In addition, several local bowlers are competing in singles and doubles events.

Local teams first saw action Saturday night when Reinke's Dirt Dobbers scored a 3010 series with handicap to gain second place in the Class A division. Vernon Bermond, Dave Polindexter, Harry Favre, Buck Kimball and Red Reinke bowled for the Dirt Dobbers. Also bowling Saturday night was a team sponsored by Tom's Peanuts, including Ozzie Anderson, Jim Kelly, Clyde Bourgeois, Al Lambka and team captain John Bufkin.

Sunday at 2 p. m., the Bay Bowling-Bldg. 45 team, which represents the local establishment in the Gulf Coast Traveling League will try its skills in the Class A division, and Hancock Insurance will roll in Class B. Next Saturday the final local team to see action will be Frostop, bowling at 6:30 p. m.

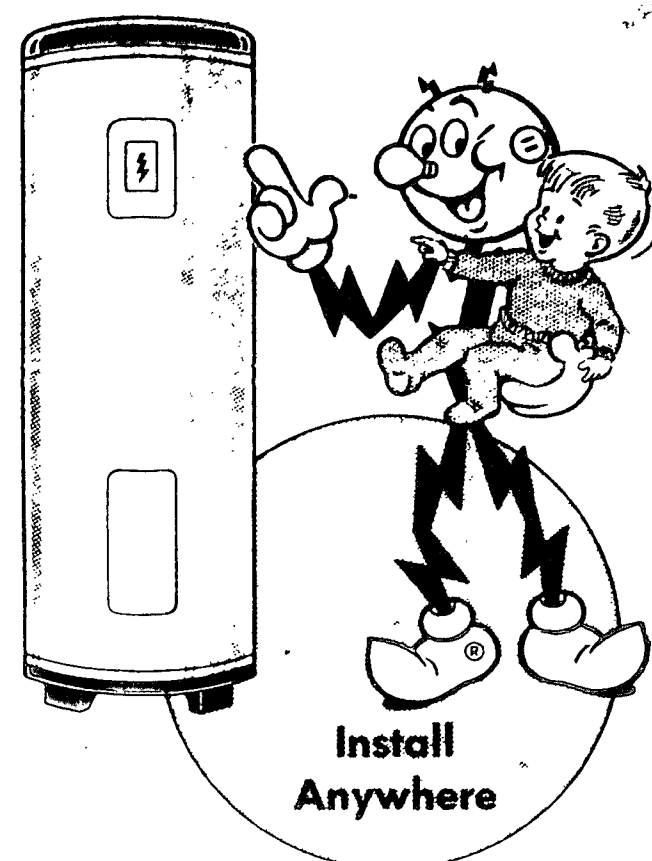

Lovelle Griffin scored a respectable 575 handicap series in singles play Saturday and joined his father, Dr. John Griffin, in the doubles.

THEY'RE FLAMELESS

Because electric water heaters require no vent, flue or chimney, and heating elements are unexposed, they are safe to put anywhere most convenient in your home.

Operating costs are moderate because the current is on only when hot water is used and more cold water flows into the tank, or when the water is not used for long periods of time and the water temperature gradually drops.

Counter-top models fit flush with kitchen counters and are also ideal for laundry rooms. Square or round tall types can be installed in closets, attics or in space that would otherwise be wasted.

Week after week carefully tabulated figures published in "Automotive Market Reports" show that Chevrolet trucks are worth more in resale value # why?

If you were a professional used truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?

There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

1. A greater demand for the product

2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them — double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

See your Chevrolet dealer for a quality '62 Chevrolet jobmaster truck.

* Automotive Market Reports is a weekly authoritative wholesale publication which reports the average prices paid for used trucks and cars by professional buyers at auctions all over the U.S.
